The Four Seasons was written by Antonio Vivaldi, an accomplished Italian Baroque composer. Vivaldi was also a virtuoso violinist, teacher, and Roman Catholic priest. Many of his compositions were written for the all-female musical ensemble of the Ospedale della Pietà, which was a convent, orphanage, and music school in Venice. He composed many instrumental concertos, sacred choral works, and over fifty operas. The Four Seasons is regarded as Vivaldi's most famous work.

Serenade for Strings was composed by Pyotr Ilyich Tchaikovsky, the same great Russian composer of the Romantic period that produced The Nutcracker, Swan Lake, and The Sleeping Beauty, among many other pieces of music celebrated worldwide.
