

Happy Easter!

There's a certain beauty in the celebration of Easter that feels like it always gets missed. Spring is here; the air seems lighter, the sun gets brighter, and the people you pass walking on the street start to smile back. It's a sense of hope that can't quite be explained.

Having the opportunity to attend Swan Lake performances by Ballet Victoria is in perfect harmony with the spirit of the season—renewal, transformation, and elegance of nature.

Spiritually, the swan's transformation from an ugly "duckling" to a beautiful swan serves as a metaphor for the transformative journey each individual takes in life. This concept encourages personal growth, shedding of old ways, and embracing new beauty.

Swans form long-lasting bonds, typically with one partner for life, is quite a symbol. Their elegant movements, delicate appearance, and poised postures, and gliding on water have often been described as ballet.

What will inspire Ballet Victoria's Swan Lake?
Will love of nature bring new life to century old traditions?
